The UK's only built environment roadshow.

2019 events guide.

*Post Speaker - Alastair Pirron,
Co-Founder of WRIIHouse*

We're not event people. We're industry people who put on events.

Unlike other event companies, we've studied and worked in the built environment industry for years. So we know exactly what suppliers need and want from networking events.

Ours is a relaxed, communal affair. Where the city's best and brightest professionals and suppliers have the freedom to talk face to face, share ideas and gain inspiration from world-class speakers and each other.

"In a world where every business has such focus on digital it is important not to forget the power of analogue - the simple and powerful connection of people doing business with people."

Paul Brooke - Specifi CEO

We bring people together

People meet in person less and less these days. We're using our phones, social media and whatever digital channels more than ever.

And yet meeting face to face is still the most powerful way to connect with new people, catch up with existing contacts and do business. Just ask our specifiers. They'll tell you the same.

A tale of 12 cities, 3 programmes and 30 events
